Five representatives from each district of the jointure—Mann, Southampton, Monroe, East Providence, West Providence Townships and Everett Borough—meet regularly the first Monday night of the month and are known as the Everett-Southern-Joint Board.

These men form the executive body of the schools. They are very civic-minded men who work for their school and community and serve without pay.

Everett Southern Joint School District's Municipal Authority was created in March, 1952, to take care of any business transactions for the purchasing of ground, building of buildings, collecting of rentals, and paying of any bills which concerned the authority.

MILLER C. HOOD

Many of the things we enjoy today were considered "IMPOSSIBLE" yesterday. The past century has seen unbelievable advancement in the fields of communication, education, transportation, and science.

Progress depends upon the dreamer and the doer whose faith and ambition have given us such things as radio and television, modern equipment and methods in education, jet propulsion, plastics, and wonder drugs.

So dream your dreams and challenge the "IMPOSSIBLE," Class of 1953—it may come true!

D. RAYMOND MACK

Words are little things that are easily spoken and we forget what power they have to give pleasure or pain. They seem so swiftly gone that we forget that they do not go away at all, but remain like barbed arrows in the heart where they struck, or like fragrant flower distilling perfume. They seem powerless for good or evil, but we forget that they either tear down or build up fair fabrics of joy and peace in the souls of those to whom we speak them. They are the vehicles of thoughts. Let us be very careful in the way we use our words.

It is my sincere hope that each member of the Class of 1953 will add some thought or deed to make this world a better place to live.

At Ease!

MILLER C. HOOD AND D. RAYMOND MACK

Did something suddenly occur that required Mr. Hood and Mr. Mack to meet for a little chat?

Could it be a snow storm which may give the students a day's vacation? Perhaps it's a discussion about the school program, a student's tardiness, or it might be a replay of that basketball game last night.

Inner Mechanics

IRA F. SALKELD

The man we often see around the school checking attendance records is Ira F. Salkeld, the attendance officer for the Everett Southern Joint Schools. Mr. Salkeld has the power to arrest without warrant any student under the age of seventeen who does not attend school regularly or any student who is disorderly while in school or on the way to or from school.

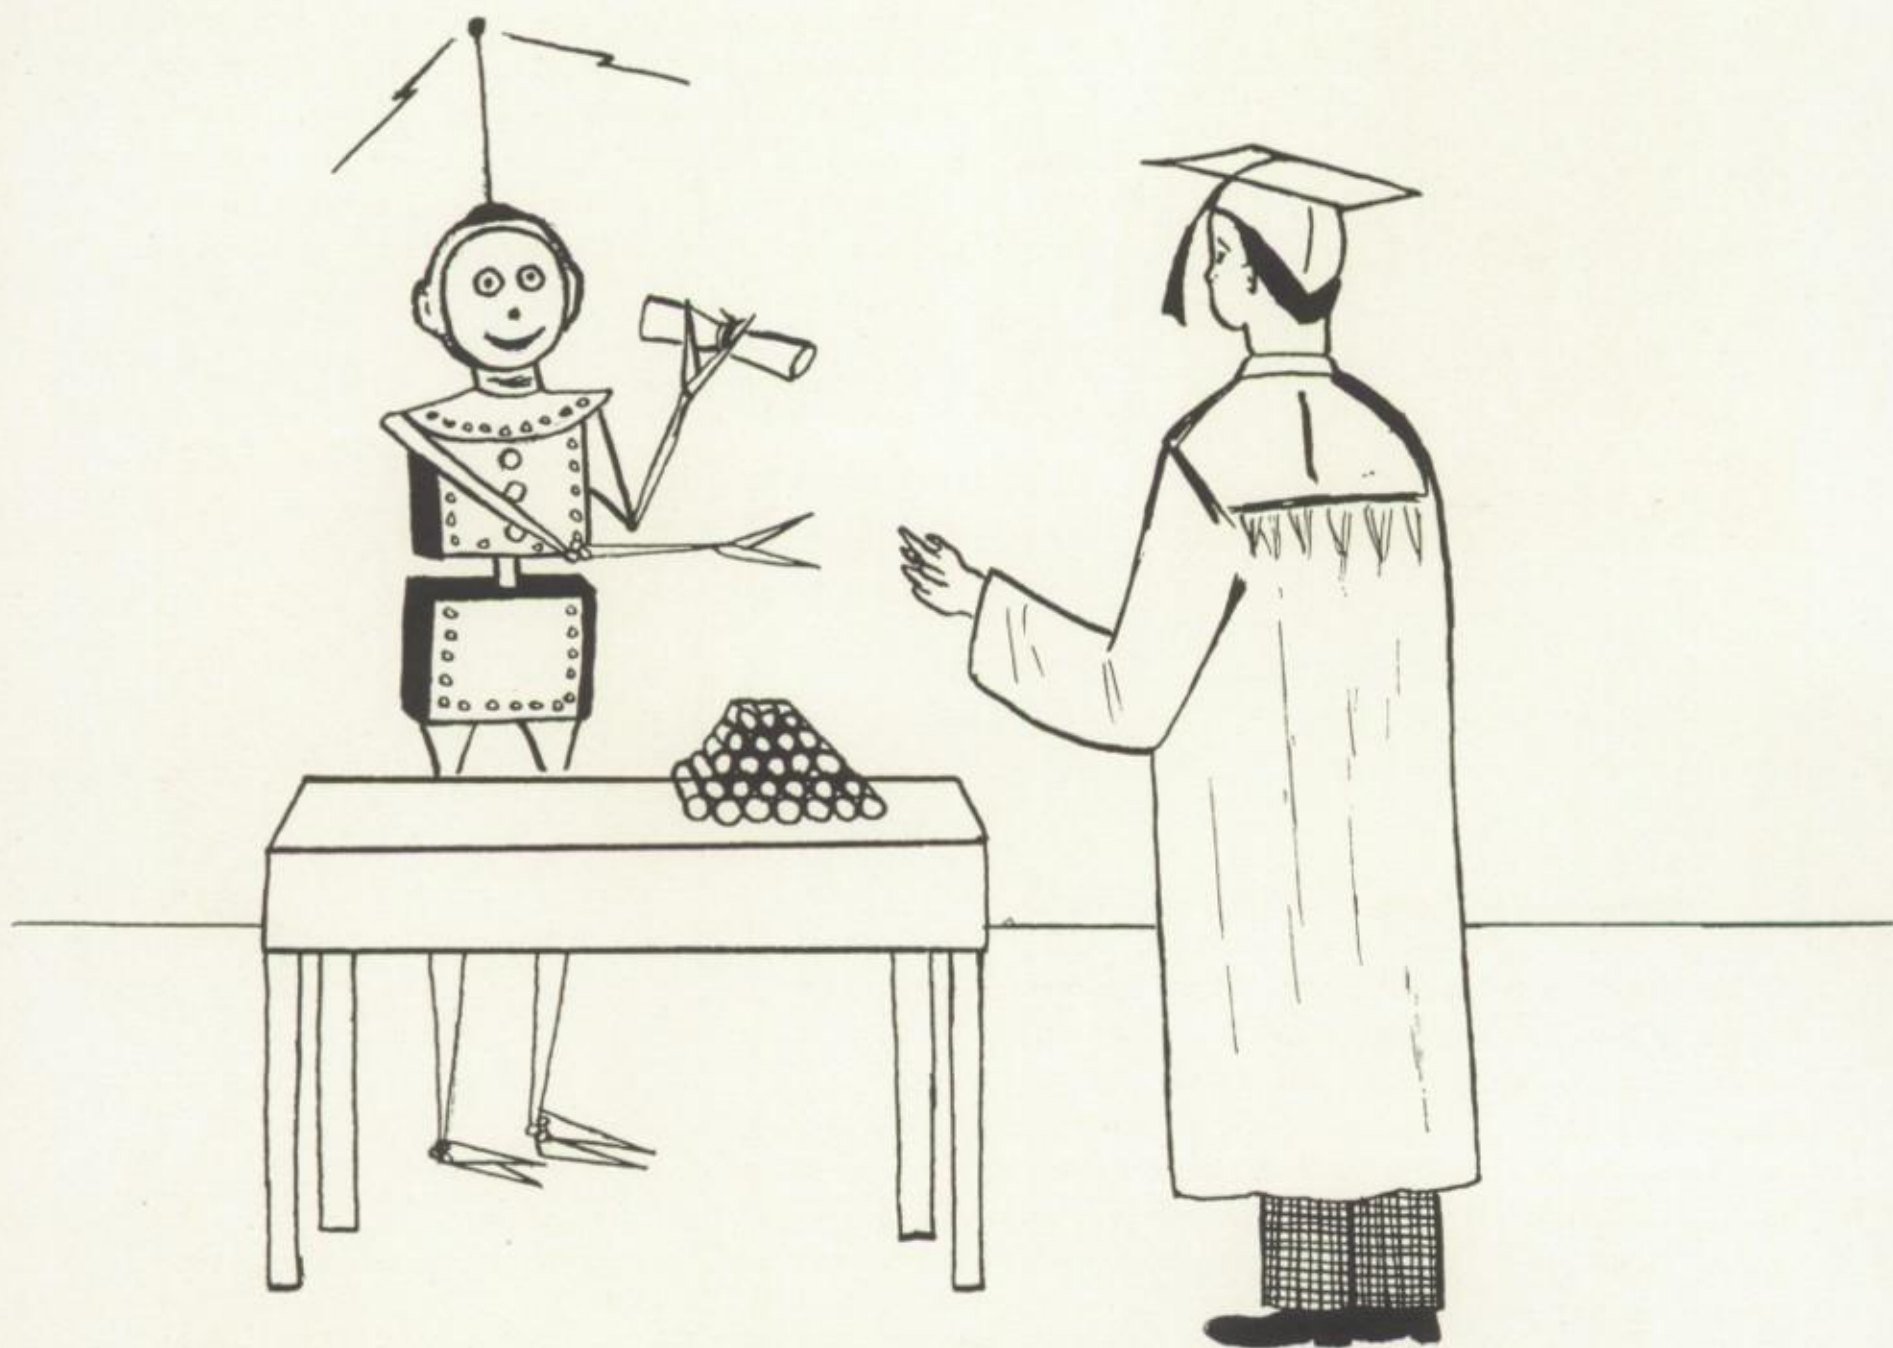

MAXINE WARD AND DOROTHY SMITH

Dorothy Smith and Maxine Ward, the secretaries, play an important part in the office work because they help with such duties as taking cafeteria count, collecting lunch tickets in the cafeteria, making out announcement sheets, making out monthly reports on attendance, answering the telephone and taking messages for Mr. Mack and Mr. Hood, and many other duties. None of these duties ever seems to cause them to lose their patience or their smiles.

Dorothy and Maxine are graduates of Everett High School in the class of 1951, and both have been employed in the principals' offices since that time.

SENIORS

We are the proud seniors at last,
So very happy to have kept our mast
And banner waving through the years.
We have mastered the doubts and tears.

As freshmen we were shy and afraid,
Hoping someone would come to our aid.
We held our heads high; really wanted to run,
We knew some day our victory would be won.

Before we could reach the height sublime.
On and on we toiled week after week,
Trying so hard our fortune to seek.

As, juniors we were at last,
Our doubts and fears gone with the past.
There was still work to be done,
Before our battle would be won.

Victory, victory at last we cry,
Seniors of Everett Southern Joint High,
True—this battle has been won.
But we know another has just begun.

Class History

In 1950 we entered high school and eagerly started the first of our four years. We were one of the largest classes—our enrollment was one hundred and forty-two. We slowly became acquainted with each other and after weeks of confusion, we finally learned when and where to go to each class. Soon we became interested in sports, music and other activities. By the end of the year we had proudly set the foundation for our shining goal three years away.

By '51 the green had worn off our backs and we enthusiastically took a step higher. This year we selected our subjects and the courses which we would follow for the next three years. Some of us selected business, academic, or industrial arts; others, home economics or agriculture. During this year we rose to fame in extracurricular activities and acquired the first feeling of success. Many from our class participated in sports and brought athletic achievement to our school. We had gained more knowledge, self confidence, and had a bright new outlook on the future. The second phase of our school life was over, and we were eagerly awaiting our junior year.

Almost, but not quite. 1952 arrived and we were now working harder than ever. Our junior year was not all work, however. We had a skating party which was attended by many students. The purpose of this party was to raise funds for our class and a good time for all. Lights! Action! Camera! Yes, that was us, (except for the camera) when we presented our junior class play. The play was "Don't Take My Penny," a comedy in three acts. About the middle of the year we ordered our class rings, and within a few months they were proudly displayed on our fingers. In the spring we sponsored the junior-senior banquet and prom. The banquet was held in the cafeteria and the prom in the auditorium. A Holland theme was chosen for the decorations. This was the highlight of the junior year, one which was enjoyed by everyone. We were now looking forward to our senior year with eagerness and determination to attain our goal.

At last! We, the class of '53, have finally become seniors. There were only eighty-seven of us remaining to reach our goal. Finally we had the glory of senior traditions. We had our pictures taken, ordered name cards, announcements, cap and gowns, and chose our class colors, flower, and motto. To help raise funds for our class we sold magazines. Everyone proved his salesmanship to be quite good. In December we presented, "The Inner Willy," a three-act comedy, for our senior class play. As you can see, we were quite busy seniors, but we still had time for our dear little freshmen. We proved to be outstanding in athletics in our final year and left records which will be gone, but not forgotten. Our class also showed outstanding ability in drama, music, and home economics. In the spring we took the customary trip to Washington, which was thoroughly enjoyed by the class. Baccalaureate and Commencement have arrived; we have achieved our goal. We, the class of '53, will soon graduate but will not forget the memories that these past four years have held.

Class Prophecy

It is now 1963. As the boys and girls of the past we, too, have stepped out into the world to make a successful and prosperous future for ourselves.

Would you like to step into a rocket and go sailing off into space to see what the seniors are doing? You would? Well, jump in, fasten your safety belts, and we're off.

Wandering through the spacious rocket, we are greeted by the air hostess, Orpha Wigfield, and the engineer, Neil Beefelt. Sitting in the seat ahead of us are Zane Swartzwelder and Chester Cooper who are out to see the world. What was that which just flashed by like a falling star? We were informed that the streak was Jack Harclerode in a space ship bound for the moon.

As we wander on down the hall we can hear much laughter and conversation coming from the dining car. Peering in we can see a banquet in full swing. We see Jeanne King, Belva Barnes, Julia Ann Ritchey, Anna Mae Feight, Freda Hook, Mildred Howsare, Doris Hoy, Marjorie Robinette, Marion Robinette, and Ada Swartzwelder. Their husbands have given them a vacation, and they are enjoying it. The waitress who serves the delicious food is Elsie Evans.

What's happening? Something seems to be wrong with our engine. Yes, we are landing, and guess where? In Chaneysville.

Stepping out of the rocket, we are just in time to see a terrible collision. Three trucks, operated by Upton Imes, Ronald Mills, and John Roland, have collided. Now they are in for trouble. Here comes James Trail, the sheriff. Oh! what a deal! The honorable mayor, Curtis Walters, is right behind him. The cop, Franklin Weicht, is marching them off to the judge, Russell Walters, who is very lenient and kind.

The fellows seem to be shaken up a bit and are taken to the hospital for treatment. They are all right, but they don't want to leave. No wonder! What a staff of nurses they have here—Olive Arvin, Patricia Colledge, Ethel Diehl, Lois Douglas, Ruth Means, and Geraldine Kennard. A fine mechanic, Cleive Calhoun, seems to have the ship in first class condition again. So all-aboard.

We are now over the Pacific. Looking out the window we see a ship. As we hover over it, we see the captain, Richard Cunard. His assistant, Arvin Brantner, and a sailor, Thomas Diehl, seem to be in a hurry. What is the cause of all the excitement? The two radio operators, Terry Harclerode and David Calhoun, also seem excited. Let's get closer and see if we can determine the reason for so much commotion. There are two Waves—Dalice Ault, and Marjorie Diehl. Could they cause that much excitement? No, now I see what it is. A whale has been killed and everyone is trying to see it before the butcher, Thomas Bulger, arrives. Who are those people sitting there on the deck of the ship? Now I see. They are Robert Bennett, Allen Cornell, Glen Gordon, Arlene Jay, Earl Miller and Ann Hadesty, famous artists, who are trying to get a sketch of the whale before it is hacked into pieces.

Two teachers, John Smith and Mary Jay, are just returning from a vacation in Europe. On vacation also is Max Shaffer, the retired president of Esso Standard Oil Company.

I suppose we have seen enough here, let's ascend into the sky again. Our next stop is the big city.

The big city at last! As we approach from the rocket we see a large building on a hill above the city. What in the world can it be? Before we can get to the building we must go through a great park where we are greeted by three game protectors—Kenneth Sponder, Roger Duvall, and Charles Reffner.

At last we come to the large building which is owned by Professor Terry Foor. As we walk down the aisle, we see his fine staff of secretaries, Naomi Akers, Margaret Trail, Joan Avey, Betty Clark, Mavis Crawford, Viola Emery, Connie Evans, Gail Imes, Vera Miller, Joyce Mosholder, Patricia Perrin, Othella Ramsey, Nancy Smith, Shirley Smith, and Patty Lou Weimer. His stenographers and clerks are Opal Conrad, Carole Dunkle, Martha Ernst, and Marie Ward.

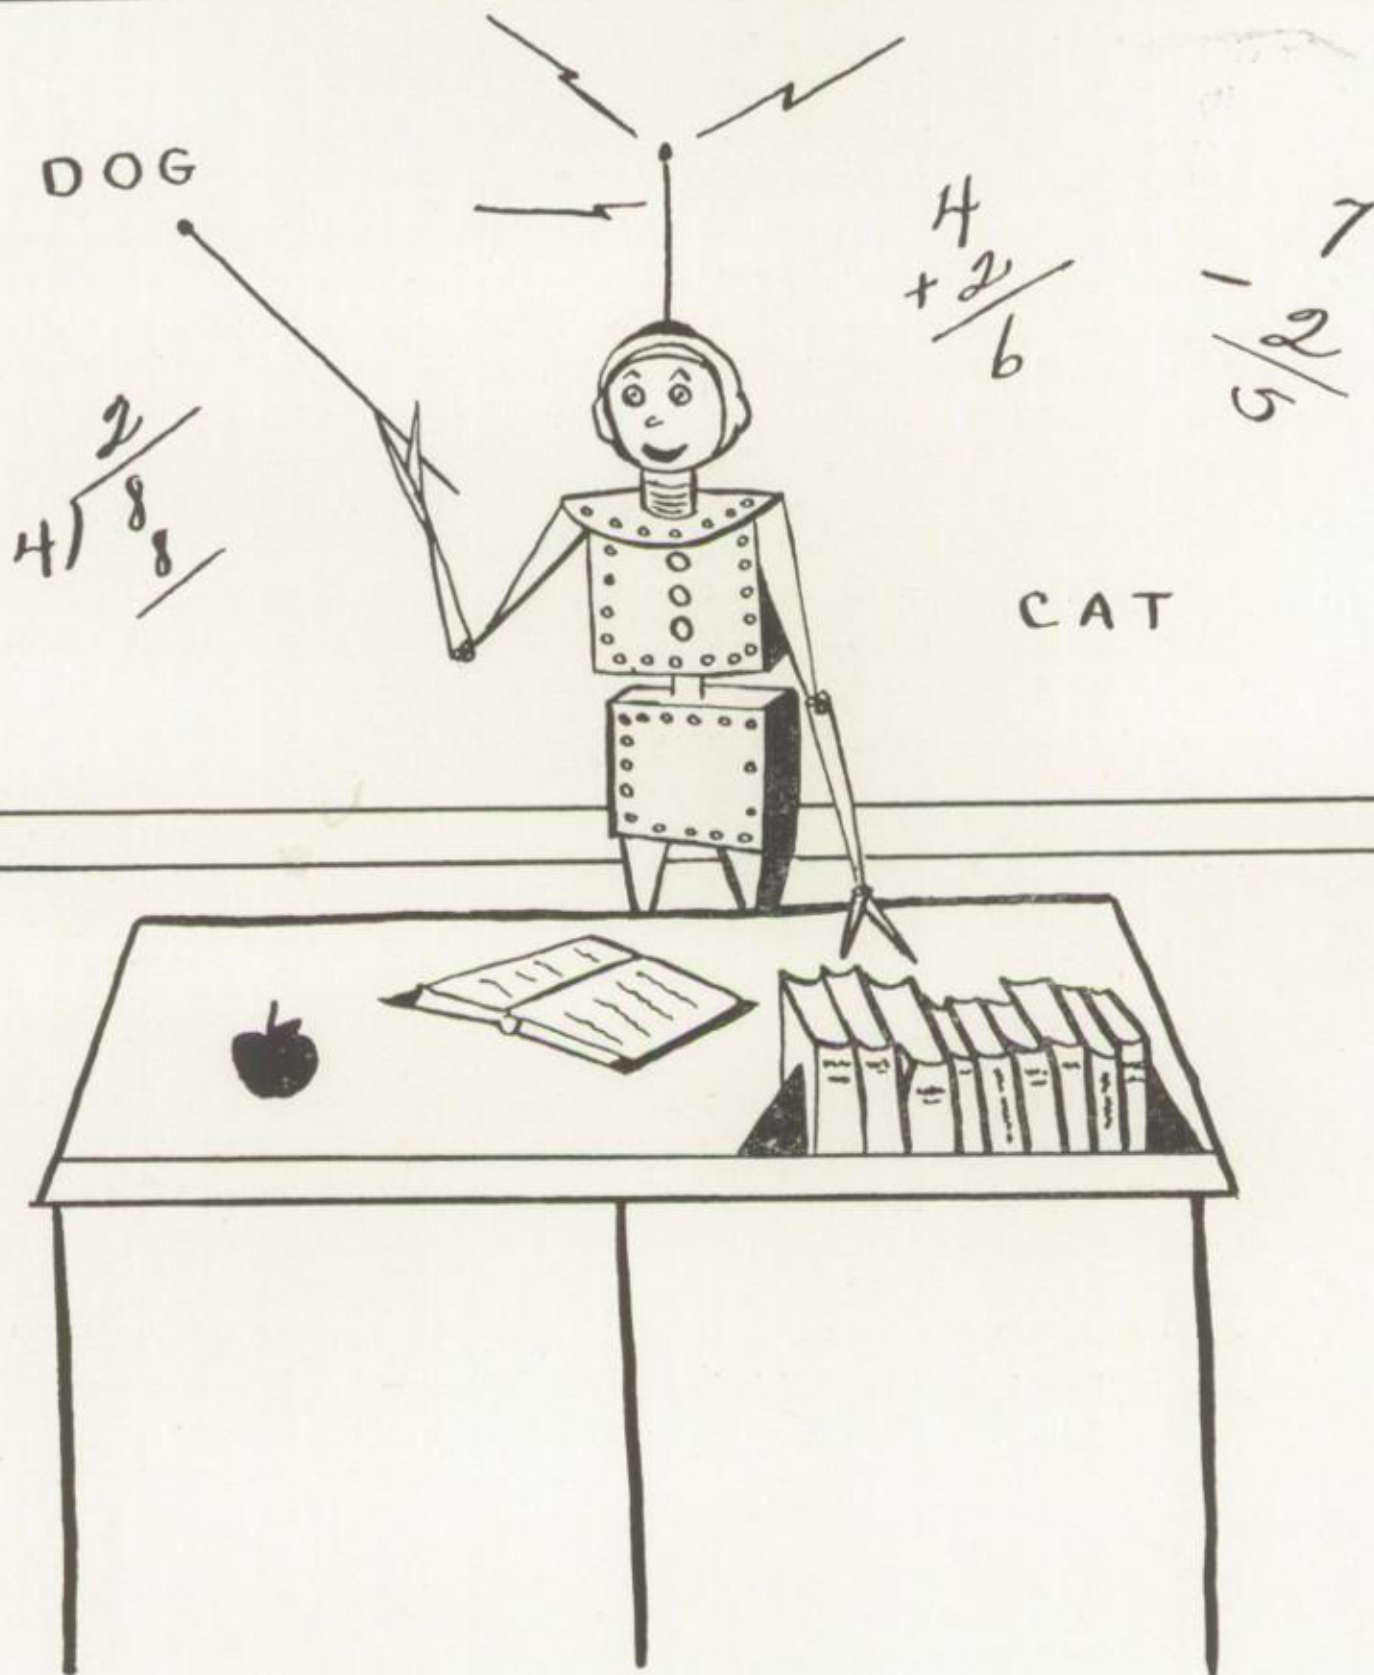

While we are here, we might as well run over to Hollywood to see if we can recognize anyone there. As we look over the scene we see the beautiful star of stage and screen, Wilda Perrin, who is among the ten top stars this year. On the side line we see two models, Velma Pittman and Delores Cooper, who are getting new hair-dos from a prominent beautician, Peggy Weicht.

Enough of that. Now we're off for some entertainment. There seems to be a ball game over at the stadium. If we hurry, we can make it. Batter up. It's James Chirdon. Richard Dishong is pitching and Marle Foor is the next batter. Coach Marling May is running around in great excitement.

As we look over the stadium we see familiar faces. By my side are the famous football player, Dewey Howser, and a successful business man, Kenneth Lashley. Farmers who are here to enjoy the game are Edward Hoover, Robert Mearkle, Darrel Northcraft, Arnold Feight, and William Mearkle.

Three people who are keeping the popcorn business booming are Betty Sleek, Doris Mills, and the great millionaire, Wilbert Eshelman. Mr. Eshelman is giving away free popcorn to all the kiddies. Oh! yes, a good game and a fine day. Now off to the rocket and home.

Each year twenty students are chosen by their classmates to represent them in Student Council, the governing body of the high school. These twenty students represent grades seven through twelve and are considered outstanding in leadership, character, and scholastic rating.

This organization sets up rules of discipline for the student body.

Space Societies

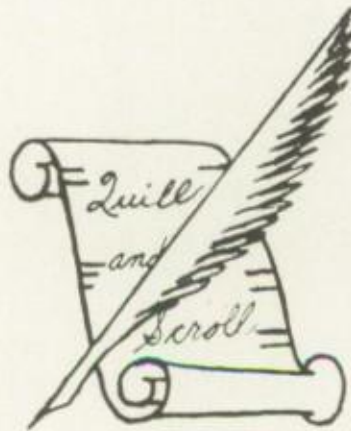

The National Honor Society was established in the Everett Southern Joint High School in 1944. To become a member of this society is one of the highest goals a high school student can obtain.

The basic requirements for membership are character, scholarship, leadership, and service. The students are chosen by members of the faculty.

If a member of this organization fails to live up to the standards by which he obtained his membership, he must return his emblem to the local chapter.

Quill and Scroll is an international honor society for high school journalists, whose members are chosen for their scholarship and ability to write. The purpose of this society is to encourage and reward outstanding achievement in the journalistic field.

Quill and Scroll was first organized nationally in 1925 and was established in the Everett Southern Joint High School in 1951 by Laura L. Bullington, the adviser.

Putting a book together like the Warrior has been no small job for us, who are amateurs.

Mrs. Owens and her sales class got busy very early in the year to sell "ads" to the townspeople to help finance the publication of the yearbook.

We did the "dummy" which is actually the yearbook in its early stages. Then we took the pictures. We thought that was fun because we got out of classes, but when the glossies came back from Cover's Studio, we found we had a larger job to do. What size did we want the pictures? How much room did we want to leave for writing? We worked together to get the sizes to our liking and sent the glossies to Conemaugh Engraving Company where they made cuts for the printer, Weigel & Barber, Inc.

Then we wrote articles again and again. "Re-write and correct this article" were the familiar words from Mrs. Bullington. Wouldn't she ever accept them? Finally she did: and off to the printer went the dummy, cuts, and written material.

There was a mad scramble the day the Warriors arrived. We hope you are as proud of the Warrior as we are.

The Parrot is the school paper which is published seven times a year by the journalism class. The Parrot publishes school news, sports happenings, interviews of teachers and students, and some choice bit of gossip.

This year the Parrot was enlarged from a small six page paper to a large four page paper. The change gives more space for news and makes the paper more easily read.

The editors are Wilda Perrin and Connie Evans. The adviser is Laura L. Bullington.

The Pilots

EDITORS OF THE WARRIOR

Terry Foor and Ann Hadesty

We, the editors of this annual, have tried our best to bring you a complete collection of school memories.

We wish to thank the members of the staff for their splendid cooperation and our advisers without whose guidance this book would not have been possible.

We sincerely hope that this yearbook meets with your approval and adds to your pleasure.

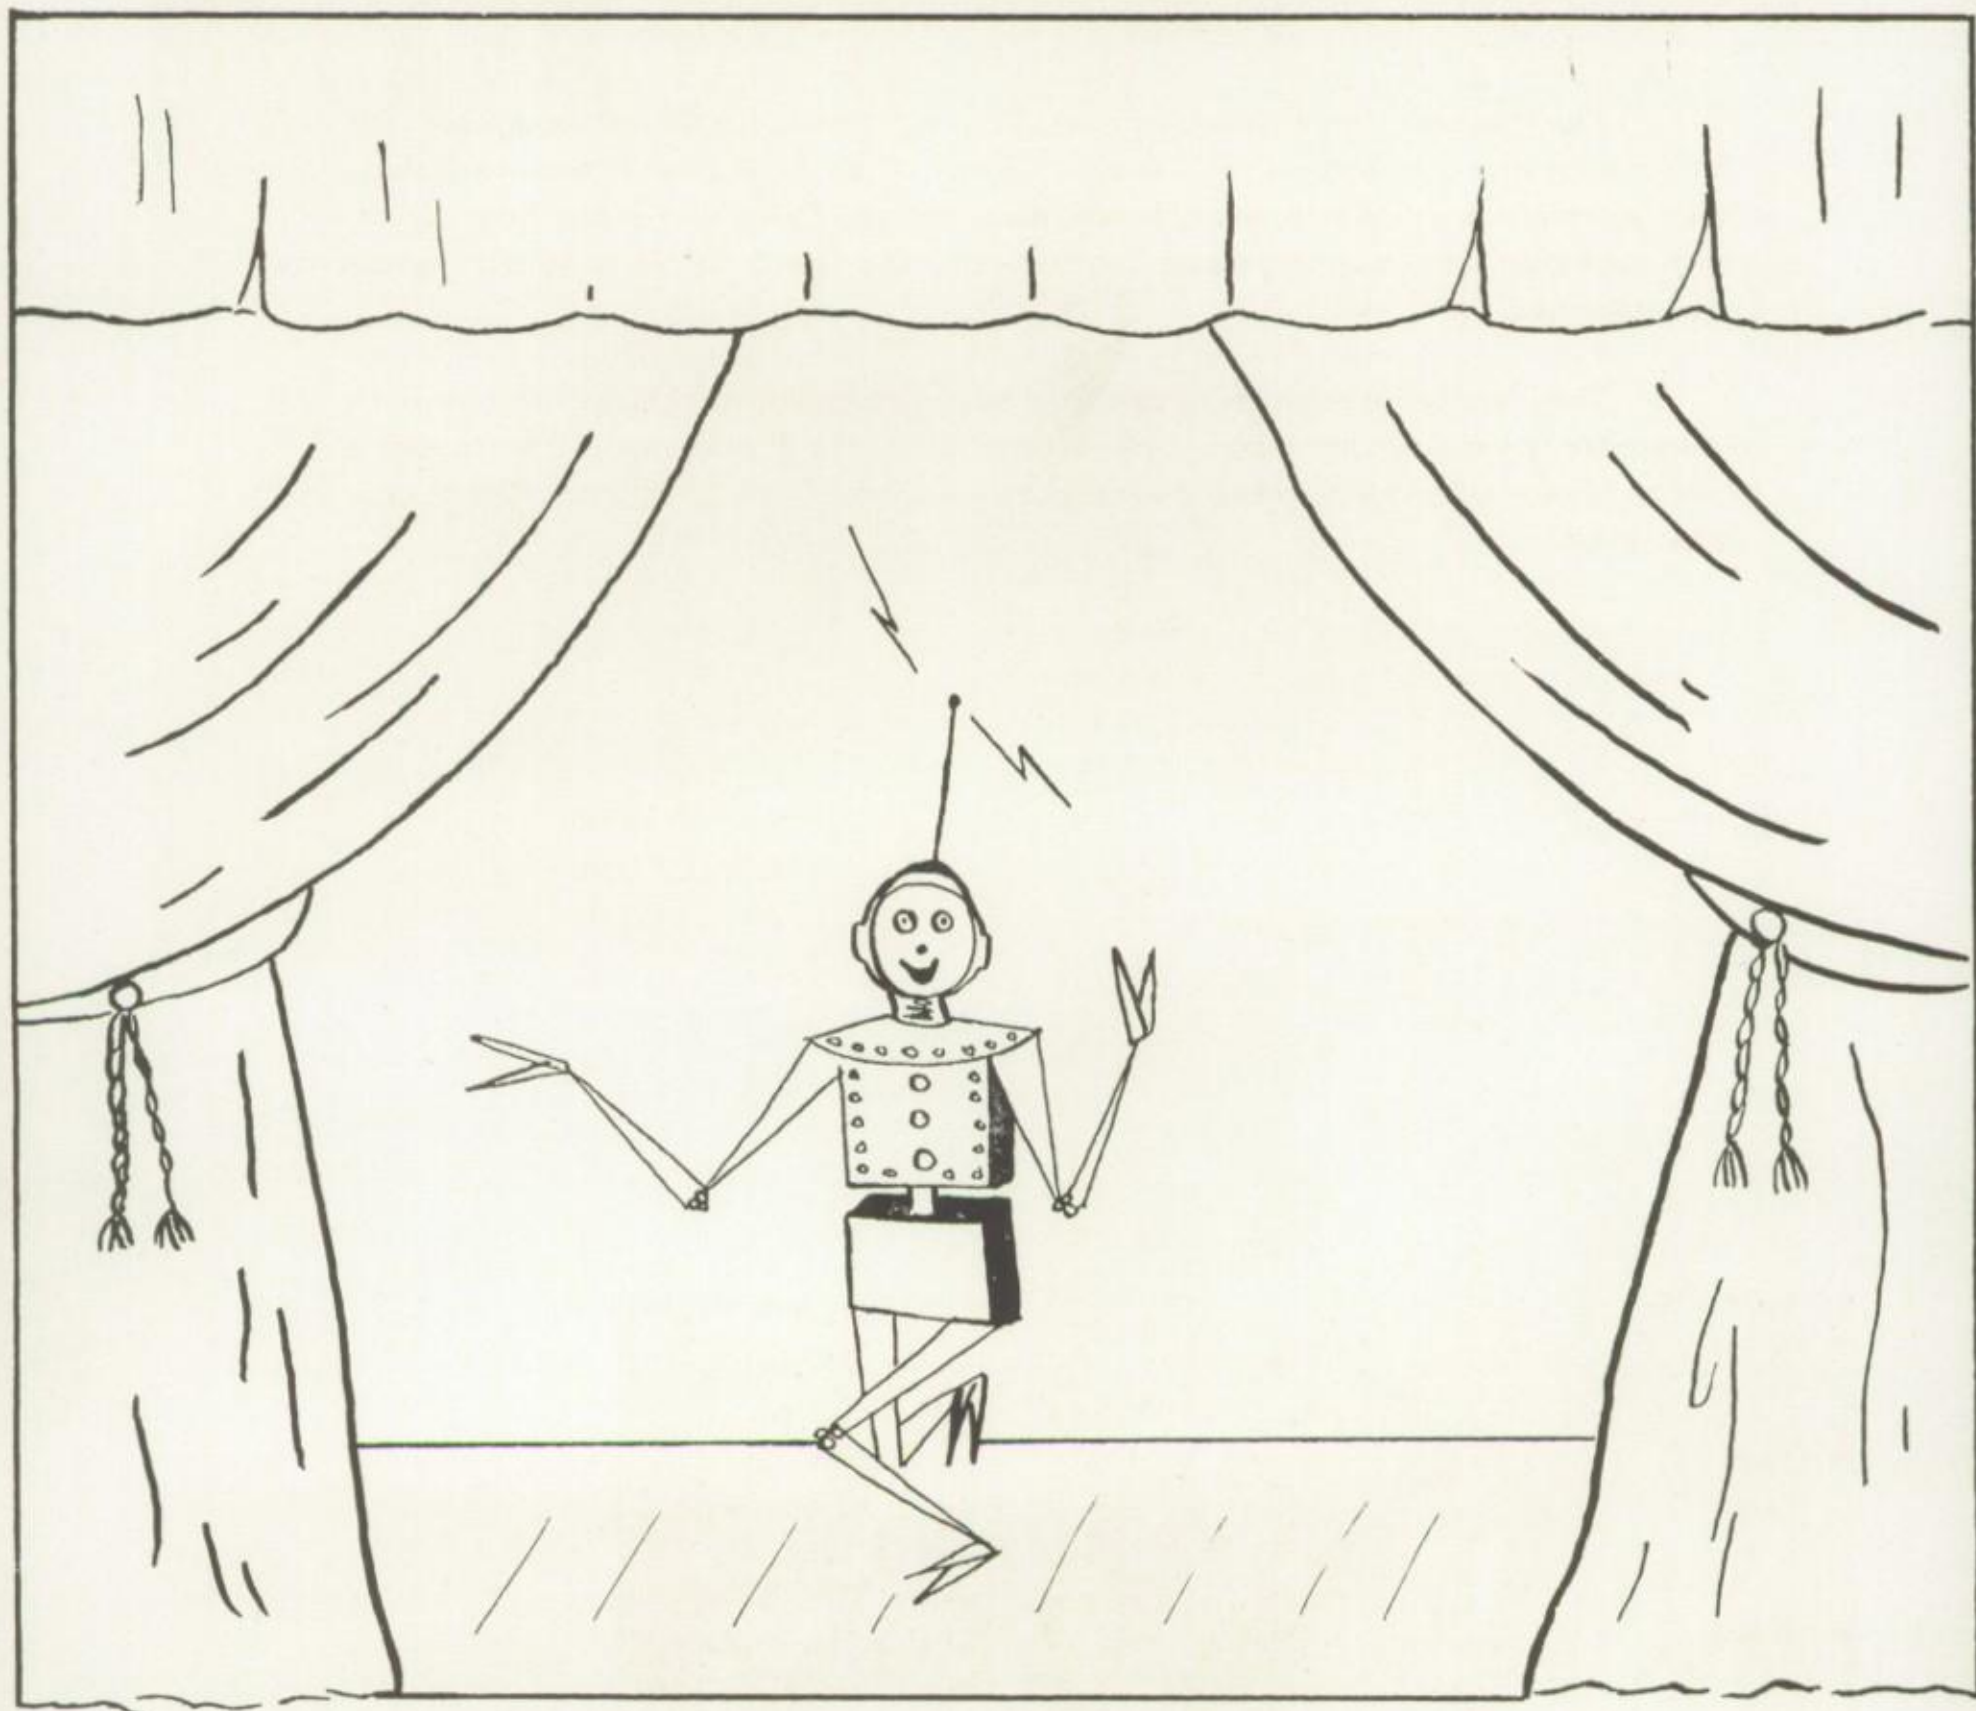

PARROT EDITORS

Wilda Perrin and Connie Evans

Editing the Parrot and bringing to you the news of our school has been a great pleasure for us and our staff. With the help of our adviser, Mrs. Bullington and the twenty members of the journalism class, we have done our utmost to make it an interesting and informative paper.

DRAMATICS

Meteors

The Junior, Intermediate, and Senior Dramatic Clubs compose the dramatics organizations of our school. These clubs meet every two weeks under separate supervision during activities period. The clubs learn how to apply make-up, use correct stage movements, use their voices properly, enact pantomimes, and read plays.

The Galaxy

"Mississippi Minstrel" was presented by the members of the Varsity Club. The purpose for the show was to obtain funds to buy each graduating letterman a varsity sweater which is presented on Awards' Day.

This production shows that the boys have other abilities besides those of football, basketball, wrestling, and baseball.

Featured on the program were solos by Dick Cunard, "Old Man River;" Harold Price, "Jeanie With the Light Brown Hair;" and Wilbert Eshelman, "Shortening Bread."

The laughable Eucalyptus Jones was played by Marling May. Donald Bertram, John A. Foor, Jack Black, Lee Bussard, and Warren Mock were end men. The Mr. Interlocutor, Ned Wellman, kept the show rolling.

The choruses sang old Minstrel favorites such as: "Camp Town Races," "Old Folks at Home," and other great minstrel hits.

The dramatics and music directors were Thelma E. Morse and John Baker. It was sponsored by Michael Baker.

Space Attractions

"Don't Take My Penny," a three-act comedy, was presented by The Class of 1953 on May 1 and 2, 1952.

The play told the story of stage-struck Penny Pringle, her self-sacrificing elder sister, Mavis, and her older brother, Mark, who wanted to run a chicken farm.

The Pringle family consisted of Jean King as Penny, Terry Foor as her brother, Wilda Perrin as her sister, Mavis, Velma Pittman as her lecturing mother, David Calhoun as her worried father, Patty Lou Weimer as her outspoken Gram. Ann Hadeisty played the role of Sally, the actress-maid, while Patty Perrin was Joanne, Penny's best friend. Dick Cunard and Jack Harclerode were Greg and Kerry, their boy friends. Terry Harclerode was Harrison Day, a famous author, and Kenneth Lashley was a Hollywood publicity man. Roger Duvall was the French designer, Henri, who appeared with his three models—Connie Evans, Julia Ann Ritchey, and Peggy Weicht. The delivery boy was Wilbert Eshelman.

The director of the play was Thelma Morse, who was assisted by Martha Ernst as student director, Kenneth Sponsler as stage manager, Joyce Mosholder as prompter, and Margaret Trail as chairman of properties. Marling May served as chairman of ticket committee, and Glen Gordon as chairman of publicity. Margaret Trail prepared the programs.

Inter-Planetary Performance

The class of 1953 presented "The Inner Willy," a three-act comedy on December 4 and 5, 1952.

The play revolved around Willoughby Adams, a high school senior who had been reared by his three maiden aunts. Torn by his desire to please each of them, Willoughby was suddenly confronted by his inner self, the "Inner Willy," who egged him on to assert himself.

Dick Cunard played the role of Willoughby with Terry Foor as his inner self. Ann Hadesty, Patty Perrin, and Patty Lou Weimer were the three aunts. Connie Evans was Carol Martin, Willoughby's secret love. Velma Pittman and Peggy Weicht were twins—Janet and Trudy Marshall. Julia Ann Ritchey was Marybelle Turner, the girl next door, Marling May and Roger Duvall were two football fans—Mike and Stanley.

Assisting Thelma E. Morse, the director, were Kenneth Sponsler as student director, Dewey Howser as stage manager, and Jack Harclerode as chairman of properties. Terry Harclerode was chairman of the ticket committee, and Glen Gordon was chairman of publicity. Posters were made by the senior art class under the direction of Mr. Sherlyn Pursel, teacher. Margaret Trail prepared the programs.

"Oh, the drums go bang, and the cymbals clang, and the horns—they blaze away," may have described MacNamara's band, but it also tells of the pounce and bounce of the blue and gold band of the Everett Southern Joint High School.

Every day complaints of dusty shoes could be heard from the tooters, drummers, and other varieties of players. The drum majorettes also drilled daily. These seven girls, Joan Hebner, Marietta Ritchey, Patty Steach, Mildred Bollman, Patty Perrin, Shirley Smith, Mildred Imes, with the band planned the snappy routines to such tunes as "St. Louis Blues March," "I'll See You in My Dreams," "Washington Post March."

Climaxing the football season, the seven Indian maidens (majorettes) performed a victory war-dance to the staccato beating of a drum in the background. The maidens wore Indian dress.

An annual concert is held every spring. Along with the program are featured musical novelties and solos.

Space Choirs

The Senior High Chorus consists of forty-eight voices. Membership to the chorus has been granted to all students of 10th, 11th, and 12th grades who enjoy singing. This organization is composed of only female voices, but membership is open to all students of those grades who are interested in chorus work. This year the chorus has been quite active in presenting an additional concert, "South Pacific," to supplement their fund for choir robes.

The Spring Concert was entirely different. They presented only sacred and secular music.

The chorus also participated in the music assembly program, the Christmas program, and went Christmas caroling throughout the community.

The purpose of the chorus is to become familiar with and appreciate good singing habits.

JUNIOR CHORUS

The Junior High Chorus, which is pictured on page 56, consists of over thirty voices ranging from the 7th, 8th, and 9th grades. At present the chorus is composed of girls only, but membership is open to all youth in the junior high school.

The Junior High Chorus participated in the music department's assembly program, the Christmas program, and frequently presented music to various clubs of the community.

The aim of the organization is to become familiar with the fundamentals of music and to participate in the music programs which are presented throughout the year.

FBLA

The Everett-Southern Joint High School chapter of Future Business Leaders of America was granted its charter on October 20, 1952, making it the 689th chapter member of the national organization of FBLA.

Formal initiation services and induction were held on December 18, followed by a Christmas party at the home of Velma Pittman, Vice President.

One of the projects for the year was finding out what graduates of ESJHS are doing now, and another was finding out what businessmen in the community expect of graduates of the business education department.

Dittoing, typing, and running off mimeograph sheets are some of the duties these people perform for the teachers. The student secretaries are students from the second year typing class, who were appointed by Mr. Keefer to help teachers. They get one period a week and their free periods to do this work. To them the teachers are truly grateful.

Members of Mrs. Owens' sales class had quite a time collecting the advertisements for the Warrior. The class, which meets last period in the day, divided into teams and spent several days visiting the businessmen in Everett, collecting their contributions for the 1953 Warrior.

However, many calls were made after school hours—to find the businessmen in—and letters were written to places like Gable's, which were too far away to contact personally.

The sales class announced that collecting ads is hard work, but also good experience.

Spacial Mechanics

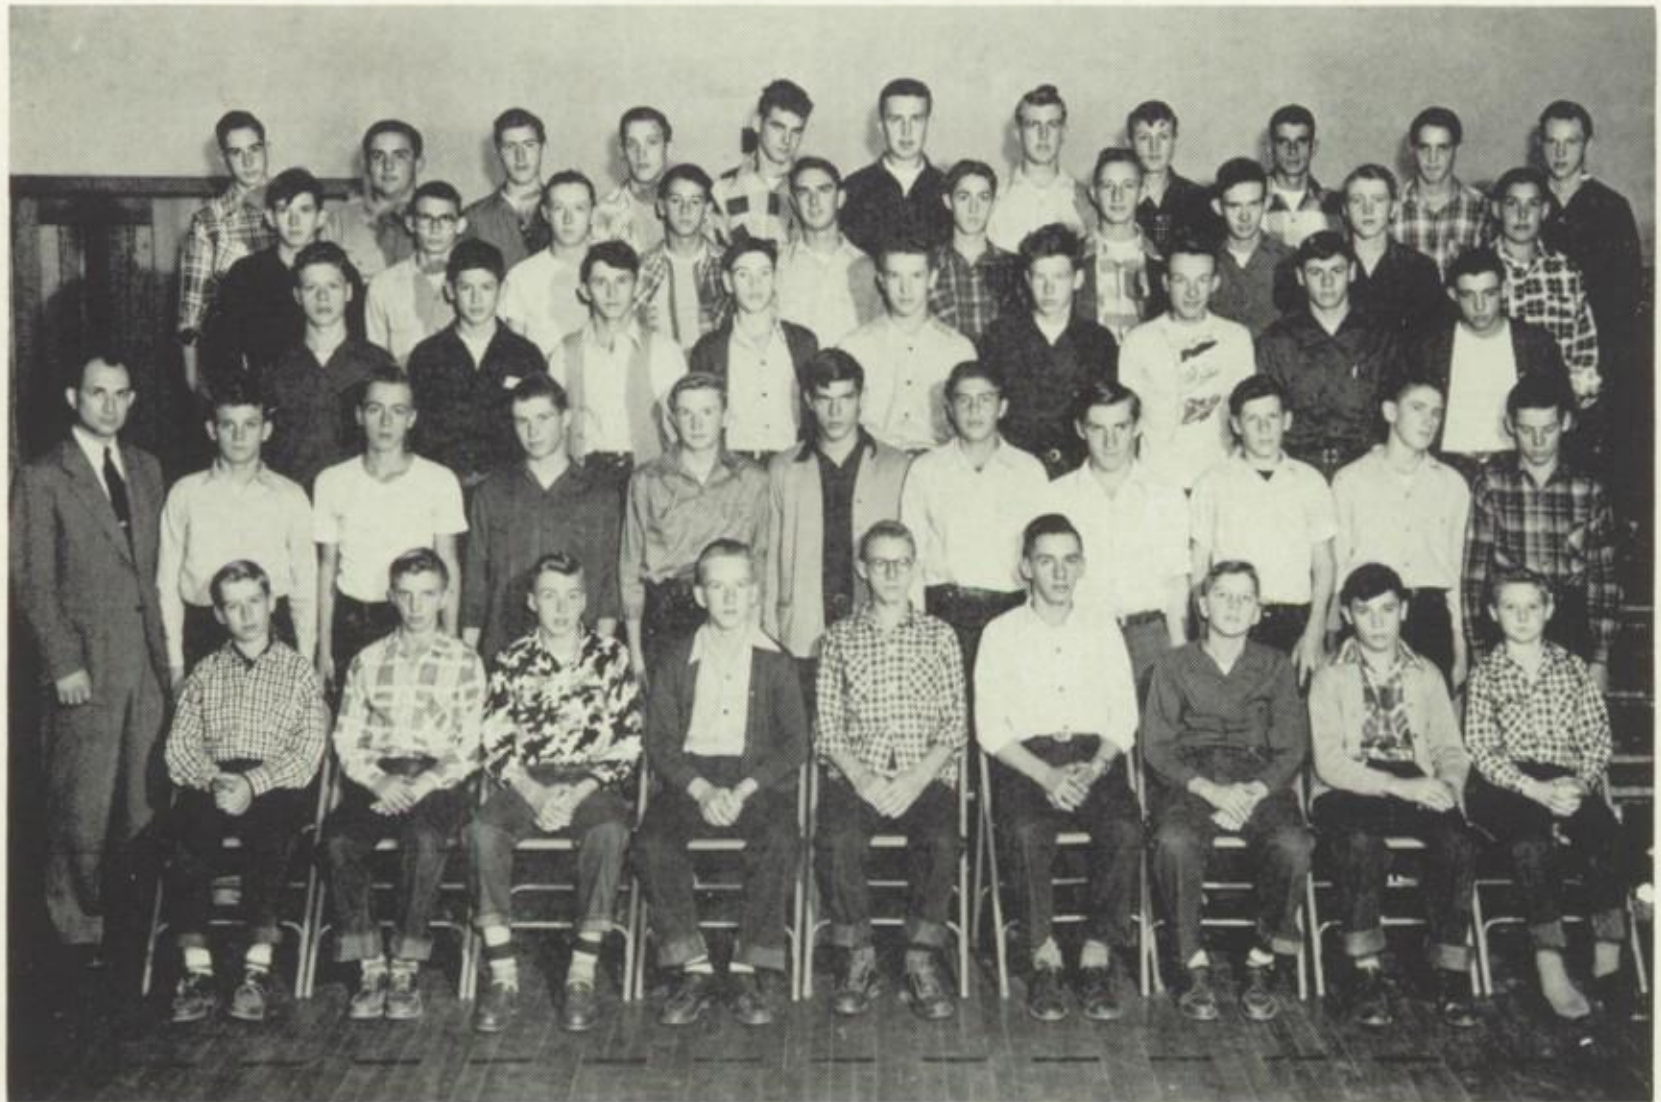

J. Trail, C. Reffner, E. Hoover, C. Walters, F. Weicht

The Industrial Arts program in the school consists of two subjects, woodmaking and mechanical drafting, which are open to students from grade 7 through grade 12. Industrial Arts is required in grades 7, 8, and 9, but it is an elective in grades 10, 11, and 12.

The program is designed to give students an insight into industrial production and to help them appreciate those products which they use in daily living. By learning first-hand the methods of wood and metal construction they learn to better care for their furniture in their own homes. Along with this learning comes the proper use of the correct tools, materials, and methods of finishing. Since much of the work in the woodshop is done from the scaled plans, students must learn to read the blueprints and black-and-white prints quite early in their course. The easiest way for them to learn prints is to make such drawing themselves, thus the subject, mechanical drafting. Here the student begins with simple orthographic drawings and progresses through sheet-metal layout to advanced mechanical drawing and machine drawing.

VOCATIONAL AGRICULTURE

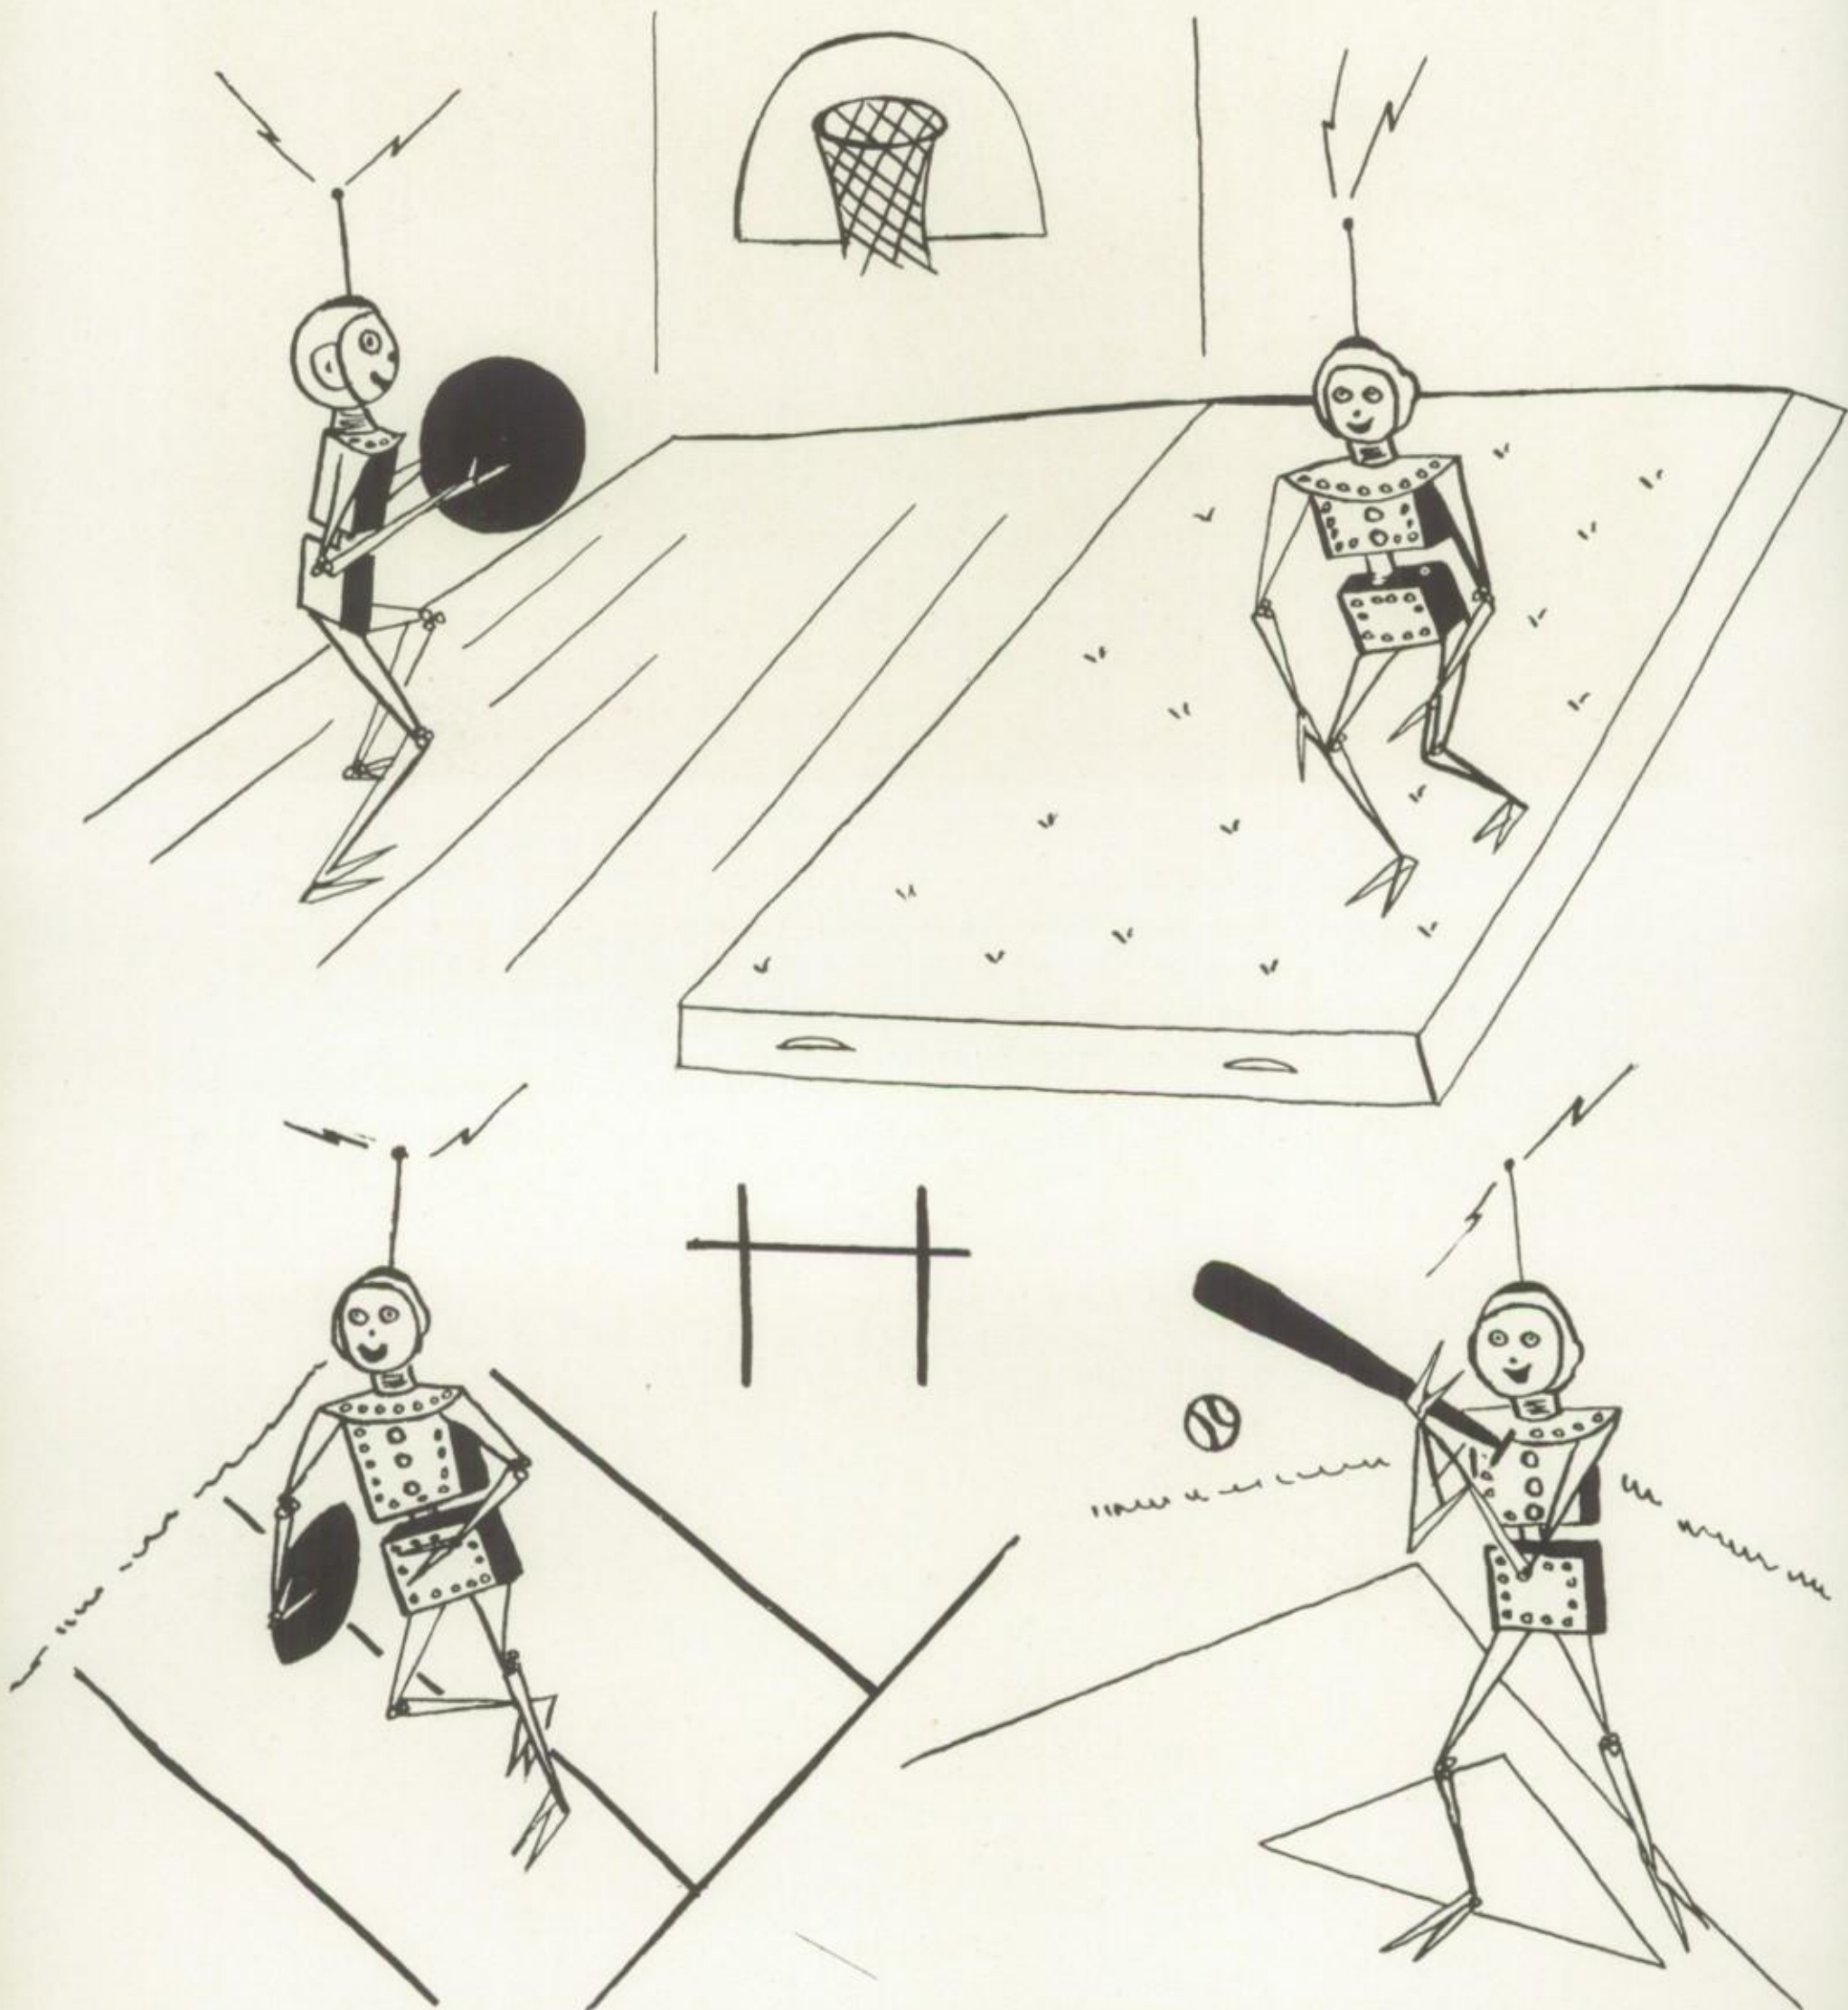

Vocational Agriculture is a course of study for farm boys. The purpose of this course is to help students to become better farmers. Boys study farm problems that relate to their every day work on the farm. They spend three days a week with class work.

Farm mechanics or shop work is an important phase of vocational agriculture. In these two periods, boys learn wood working, metal work, electric welding, acetylene welding and cutting, forging and machinery repair. Since every farmer has to be his own mechanic, the aim is to help him in this respect.

The farming program or project work is one of the best parts of vocational agriculture. Here, boys learn to practice what they learn. This year our boys have nineteen baby beeves, many beef heifers, about forty pure bred swine and many other projects. Each boy raises the type of project that he likes best.

A boy can raise as many projects as he desires. The progress a boy makes in vocational agriculture depends upon how much initiative he has and the opportunities that he has on his farm.

ATHLETICS

Athletic Commanders

C. Larimer, M. Baker, J. Burk, J. Brodish

Everett Southern Joint High School has a full time athletics program starting with football followed by basketball and wrestling, and closing in the spring with baseball. The men responsible for this program are our coaches.

Michael Baker, who is the football, junior high basketball, and baseball coach, was graduated from Charleroi High School where he was very active in sports. He was a three year letterman in high school and at Waynesburg College. For a short time he played football with the McKeesport Olympics, a semi-professional team.

The coach for basketball and baseball is Claude Larimer, who was graduated from Shippensburg State Teachers College, and attended the University of Pittsburgh and Northwestern University. He was a member of the track, baseball, basketball, and football teams, and played in the New York Yankee chain system. Several times he has led our basketball teams to very successful seasons.

Wrestling is a new sport in our school which was started by James Burk. He was a two year letterman in this sport at Conemaugh High School and played varsity center on the football team.

Coaching the small fry and our future athletes is the job of John Brodish. He was graduated from Cooper Township High School where he was a four year letterman in football, baseball, and track. He has had several good junior high basketball and football teams.

The Everett Warriors, under the supervision of Coach Mike Baker and his assistant, James Burk, made the most brilliant performance of any of the football teams in the current series. The team won nine of its ten games, losing only to Robertsdale. The playing was splendid, and the record will probably stand for years to come.

Getting off to a fast start, the Warriors found it an easy thing to upset Orbisonia in the opener at Memorial Field. Every member of the team saw action, and Orbisonia's only score was against our second team. The final score was 43-6.

Traveling on the road, the Warriors entered the small town of Robertsdale hoping for another victory. They were doomed to disappointment however. Though the team played splendidly a trick of fate found Robertsdale on top of a 12-7 final score.

Everett then invaded the ball field at Claysburg, and for the first time upset the Bulldogs, 26-12. This victory was a grand one for the Warriors, and proved to be only a prelude to things to come.

Everett, still traveling, also for the first time overthrew the Saxton Wildcats, 18-6. The game was played splendidly, and Everett had trouble in the second half when they really showed their steam.

Again at home, the Warriors found Roaring Spring a determined team, but our boys had a few tricks up their sleeves, and when they finished using them Roaring Spring was swamped, 33-0.

Williamsburg was expected to give our fellows a tough time, but even though Williamsburg found that they scored first, the Warriors went ahead to win, 39-7.

Then the football hit its peak of perfection when the Warriors killed the Bedford Bisons, 21-0. Everett had been edging close every season, and the victory was indeed a great success for our team. The fact that Bedford didn't score added to the joy of defeating our closest rival.

The Warriors rolled a grand total of 273 points against their opponents meager 43.

These small fry football players at E. S. H. S. had quite a successful season this year by winning four of the six games they played. They were coached by John Brodish, science and physics teacher.

This first clash of the season was at the Claysburg football park. Here they easily trampled their hosts, 13-0. Robertsdale entered Everett but were sent home with a 27-0 defeat.

Bedford visited Everett where the home team dropped their first game, 20-0. Recovering their poise, they traveled to Robertsdale where they downed their host, 13-6.

They visited neighboring Bedford only to lose their second game, 29-0. Again they regained their strength and defeated Claysburg in their final game, 20-13.

The Varsity Basketball Squad, this year as before under the direction of Claude Larimer, turned in a good record for the 1952-53 season. Winning 12 of their 22 games, the team came through this year to upset Smith and Bellwood, and to take both games from Saxton. The greatest tragedy of the season was a last minute defeat by Everett's near rival, Bedford.

High scorers for the season include Harold Price with 315 points, Richard Cunard scoring 219 markers, and William Zimmerman making 134 tallies. Everett's team will be diminished this year, and only three boys will be left to carry on next year.

Everett placed high in the Juniata Valley Basketball League this year, moving from the number seven spot they held the year before to third place this year.

EVERETT'S JUNIOR HIGH TEAM

The small fry of Everett handed in a rather good record for the 1953 season, winning three and losing three. Defeating Smith twice, they fell before Cove two times and split with Roaring Spring. They rolled up 185 points to their opponents 173.

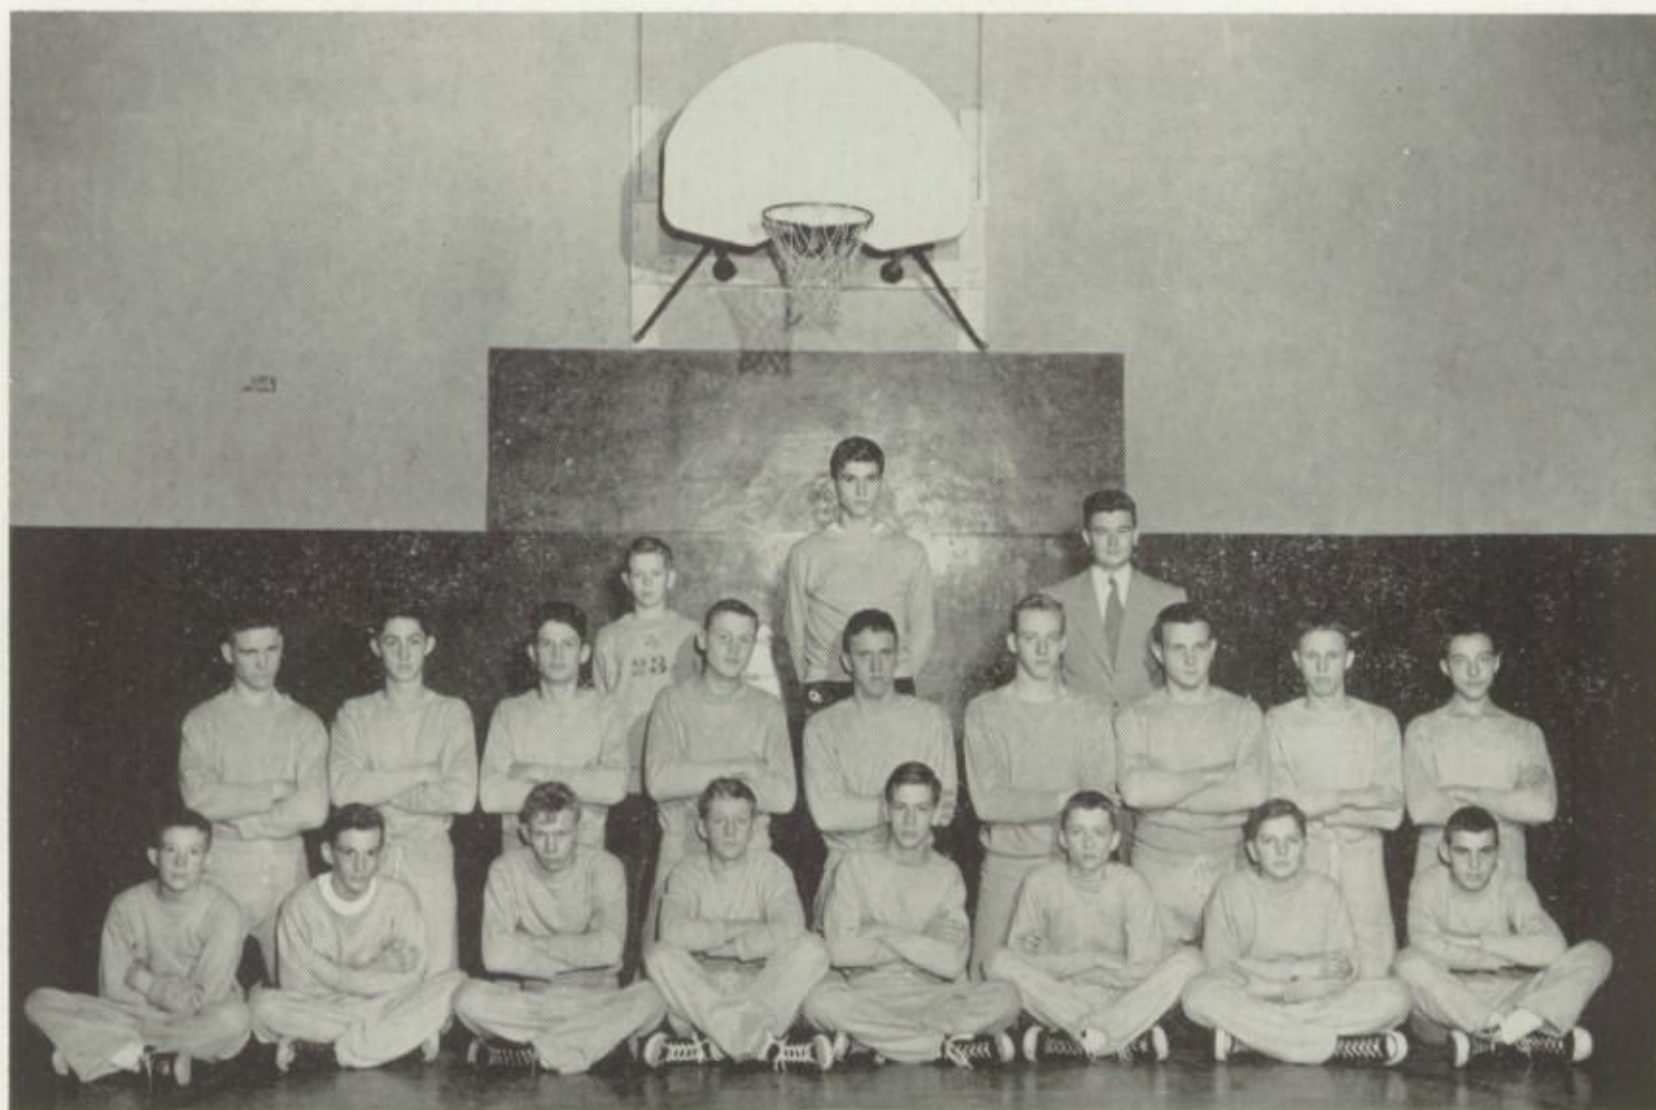

EVERETT'S JV TEAM

Lacking experience, the Everett JV team was not too successful this year. They won 4 out of 20 games. Defeating Smith, Roaring Springs, Bedford, and Greenhill once, they bowed to Cove, Bellwood, Williamsburg, Bedford, Hyndman, Saxton, Claysburg, and Hollidaysburg.

Although the records of our wrestling team were not very successful, some of the Everett wrestlers as individuals turned in an impressive record for the fourth year of wrestling at Everett High.

A loss to Johnstown was the outcome of the first meet for Everett. The score was 46-2. Still traveling the team next dropped a close decision to Conemaugh Township, 26-20. The score was almost an upset over the Conemaugh team.

Making their debut in the Everett building, the Warriors played host to Bedford, but they allowed the visitors to hand them a 26-5 defeat. Williamsburg was the next team to invade the mats at Everett, and the Warriors turned the tables and won their first match of the season 38-8.

Everett came close, but Somerset succeeded in edging the Everett wrestlers at the Everett gym by a score of 24-17. Again on the road the fellows went this time to Cresson where they were downed, 23-14.

Meeting Bedford on foreign ground, the Warriors did better than the first time, but Bedford still came out on top, 30-13. Going next to Williamsburg for a return engagement, Everett won their second meet of the season, 30-16.

The last home match was with Windber, and that team trampled Everett, 27-9. Our locals next went to Beall, a school in Frostburg, Maryland, where they won their third match, 36-15. In the final meet of the year Somerset again set back the local forces, 31-9.

Our school was fortunately chosen this year as the site for the district 5 Wrestling Tournament. Everett had two winners entering the regional tournament. In the 95 pound class we were represented by James Calhoun, and by Marling May in the 185 pound class, who became Everett's first District 5 Champions.

Turning in a record of seven wins and three losses, the 1952 baseball squad of Everett High, under the combined efforts of Mr. Larimer and Mr. Baker had a good season. The team improved as the year's games progressed, and they won every game of the second cycle. The games and practice sessions were held at the Legion Park at Riverside.

Everett was a member of the Bedford County High School Baseball League. There were six teams in this league. Woodbury, Smith, Schellsburg, Saxton, and Replogle were Everett's competitors.

Max Frye was elected captain of the the team, but was graduated last spring along with Fred Redinger, Dick Browell, and Gary Leach. One of the most outstanding players on the team was Marle Foor, who helped the team from the pitching mound. He won every game that he pitched.

Marling May and James Calhoun were managers.

A scene in the cafeteria

The first lunch period starts at 11:25 and ends at 12:10.

The second lunch period starts at 12:10 and ends at 12:55.

The teachers are first in line so they can perform their duties which have been assigned for them to do.

D. Raymond Mack, principal, arranges the classes in rotation so that there will be no rush in the cafeteria line.

The cooks are Blanche Furlong, Ada Perrin and Mayme Hershberger who always plan to have a turkey dinner for the students and faculty members before their vacations at Thanksgiving and Christmas, and to provide nutritious meals every day.

Vernon Ensley and Earnest Smith. Is it cold in the building? These are the men who are responsible for keeping us comfortable. They also try to keep our building clean and neat so that it is presentable for us and any visitors who may come.

EDWIN MAUGLE

It was with a feeling of deep loss that the students accepted the sudden death of Edwin Maugle, who died suddenly on September 8, 1952.

Mr. Maugle's cheerful smile and wit were missed greatly throughout the year.

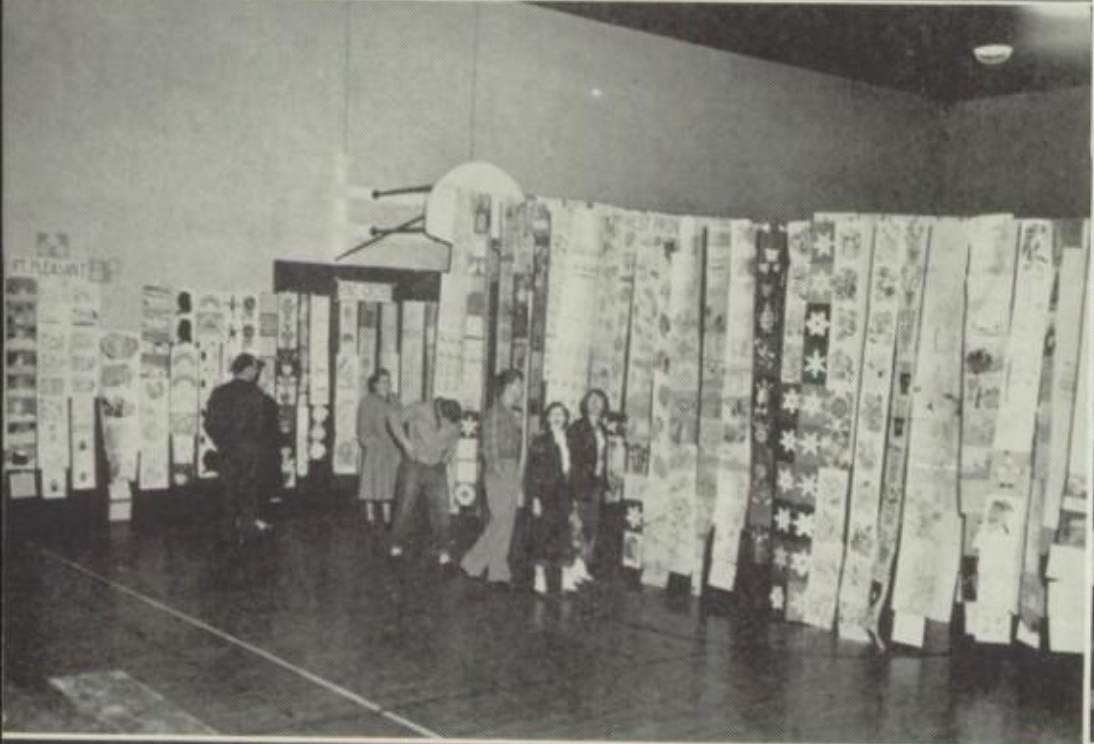

Comets From Afar

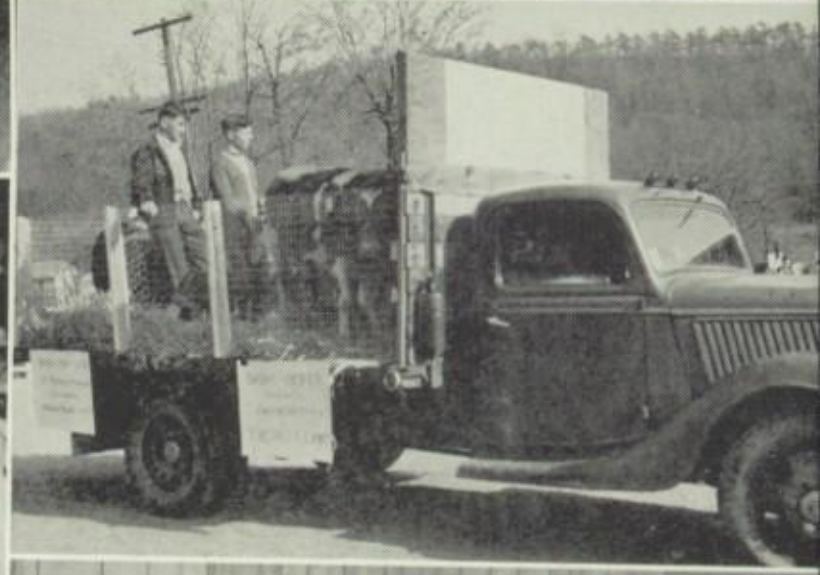

At the close of the day this is a very familiar scene when the faithful bus drivers arrive at the school with their buses to take their students home to Monroe, Southampton, East Providence, West Providence, or Mann Townships.
